Improvement Meeting Off

The Central Improvement Committee will not hold a meeting tonight, as was intended. The meeting was called several weeks ago and was to have considered ways and means of securing a free garbage service. At a meeting held at noon yesterday it was decided to postpone the meeting until some time later in the month, inasmuch as many of the members are very busy in the mosquito campaign.

It was stated at yesterday's meeting that the Citizens' Mosquito Committee had undertaken to have a free garbage service established for fifty days, after which it would be dropped unless other arrangements be made. Inasmuch as provision for this service for the year must be made in the Board of Supervisors' budget by the last of this month, if it is to get in at all, the special committee of the improvement club will probably call a meeting within this time for the purpose of demonstrating to the supervisors that such a service is really demanded by the people.

children, and that, with a cracker or piece of bread, will form the only sustenance of the child until the family supper. With the wholesale destruction of the banana around houses and the loss of other fruit from the Mediterranean fly, can any one believe that the price of this very cheap and wholesome fruit will not double and triple in price in very short order?

Our urbane governor looked sympathetic. "I did not sign any such order," he reiterated, "but only the general one that all breeding places of mosquitoes must be destroyed, and they say, mosquitoes breed in the leaves of bananas. If so, it is of course a case of the lesser number suffering for the good of the larger. We have to keep a clean city, for the federal government will require it for his soldiers and for the naval vessels that may come here. It is very sad that the poor must suffer, but it cannot be helped."

At this point your correspondent could not help wondering what official was responsible for the blunder of placing a raw, unimmune "kanaka" to guard a steamer acknowledged to contain a yellow fever patient, and whether our very best chief executive, in view of the large expenditure entailed thereby, as well as the unmerited pitching and in many instances positive sneering resulting to the poor, had deemed it his duty to inquire and have the blunderer incontinently fired.

At this juncture your correspondent reminded our police governor that there were over 100 acres of sugar cane lying between Palama and Kailua, every ripe leaf of every single stalk of cane in which, after every shower, will contain from ten to one hundred drops of water. "Ah," sighed the no doubt weary man, "that will have to be attended to later."

"But why later?" persisted the anxious householder, "if the mosquitoes breed in the drops of water in the banana stalks, said water being very aspid, why not in the water of the cane leaf, which should be sweet?"

"We don't know yet whether the mosquito is bred in the sugar cane leaf," he answered. "That will have to be investigated."

A statement of fact was made regarding water in cesspools by the householder. Poor man, he was getting very tired, no doubt, of the persistent questioner, and said, "I wish you would go and tell these things to Dr. Currie. I haven't given them much thought, but the doctor will know and answer all your questions. There is no doubt that the interest of the poor must be guarded, but how? I wish you would talk to Dr. Currie."

(The interview with the handsome, bustling, busy and seemingly energetic doctor will come later.)

THE WEEK AT HALEIWA.

This is to be the finest week in the month as far as moonlight is concerned. If you enjoy good meals, comfort in rooms and good bathing you will go to Haleiwa some afternoon this week and remain over night. The ride back on the train in the moonlight is one of the pleasantest experiences in the visit of a tourist to Hawaii. Whether you are a stranger or kamaaina go down this week. Train takes you to the lawn.

An Inspection Brigade Ready

The Central Improvement Committee, as a result of its meeting yesterday afternoon, is now organized for cooperation with the Citizens' Committee, and in event of another case of yellow fever developing will at once begin a daily house to house canvass for the purpose of locating immediately any further spread of the disease. The city has been subdivided for the purpose similarly as for the Cleanup Day last June, and each district is placed in charge of a leading member of one of the several improvement clubs of the city. Most of these captains are the same as had charge of the Cleanup Day work.

The improvement people state that if necessary, they can put as many as one thousand voluntary inspectors in the field within a day's time. Board of Health maps, showing every house in the city have been distributed to district captains, each of whom will subdivide his district into small enough parts so that each inspector will be able to visit and examine every house on his list in not over one hour.

The inspectors will report to their district captain daily, and in turn the district captain will make a daily report, and will also keep such a check on his inspectors as will insure no house being missed even for one day. In case an inspector shows laxness in duty, he is to be immediately replaced by another.

From the return post cards sent out several days ago there is no question that there is a very general willingness on the part of the citizens generally to co-operate in this work. The committee has also had many volunteers from among the ladies in various districts, and, should occasion call for putting this great machine to work, their services will doubtless be called upon.

Gambling Ante Now Raised

In the police court this morning twelve notorious Japanese gamblers pleaded guilty to gambling and were stiffly fined by Judge Monsarrat.

They are nearly all old offenders, some of them having been convicted eight or nine times.

Two of the bunch elected to forfeit bail of $25.

The fines were as follows: Nakamura, $100; Nishikawa, Kawamura, $24 and costs; Kosubo, $20 and costs; Takahashi, $15 and costs; Shimohara and Fujiwara, $5 and costs.

Chief of Detectives McDuffie was pleased with the sentences imposed, and stated that should he have occasion to arrest any of the gang again he will place the bail at $50.

BANANAS IN PANAMA.

"Near Ancon and Cristobal there are marshes that have been cleared and the standing water thereon carefully oiled.

"In such places gangs of men are to be seen going about spraying the water with oil.

"In crossing the Isthmus, however, the railroad for many miles passes through swampy country. That is to be the future Lake Bobo. Here there are hundreds of acres of standing water encroaching on the forest land. I saw no evidence that these large areas of water had been oiled, and the wild banana and palms are still growing. Photographs that I have show the virgin forest or jungle near the houses.

"That the methods adopted by the sanitary department are effective is plainly shown by the fact that during my stay on the Isthmus I saw neither day nor night mosquitoes.

"There are many American families and large numbers of children, who go about as freely at night as they would in Honolulu, and they show no fear of the yellow fever.

Inhuman Woman Sent to Reef For Long Term

Judge Monsarrat this morning sentenced Clara Nahakuele to three months on the reef for assault and battery on a five-year-old girl whom she had adopted.

Superintendent Rider of the Kakaako mission testified that the woman had beaten the child while under the influence of liquor, and that she had poked her finger down the child's throat, cutting the flesh so badly with her finger nail that the blood flowed all over the child's dress and formed in a pool on the floor of the room in which the assault took place.

He said that on his interference in the interest of law and order the defendant had given him the worst tongue-lashing that he had ever experienced and that the case was as cruel a one as he had come across in his ten years' experience in slow work in Honolulu.

The child has been taken away from the defendant and placed in a private home, where she will be happy. The mother of the little girl is at present living in Honolulu.

SMITHIES GAINS NOTHING FROM HIS LATEST APPEAL

A decision was handed down by the supreme court this morning on the supplemental agreed statement of facts in the case of G. E. Smithies versus D. L. Conkling, treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii.

The original case was based on the appropriation made by the legislature for the repayment of license fees collected after June 14, 1900. The treasurer had refused to repay any of the fees because the appropriation was not sufficient to cover them all. But the court overruled him, holding that he should pay pro rata.

The present decision is rendered on another point that was raised by the plaintiff. It was made to appear that of the claims presented by Smithies, some were for license fees paid after June 14, 1900, for one year in advance for licenses bearing date anterior to the date mentioned. The plaintiff contended that the fees should be repaid in full, on the ground that, having been collected after the license act became imperative, their collection was wrongful notwithstanding the fact that they were due and payable before that date.

On this point the court says in its decision:

"We think it is within both the spirit and the letter of the statute to regard the amounts paid for license fees for annual periods which overlapped the 14th of June, 1900, as divisible, and to consider so much of those fees as were earned, so to speak, before that date as not wrongfully collected. We hold, therefore, that the plaintiff is not entitled to the repayment of the fees referred to in full, but that the government is entitled to retain such proportion of each fee as will correspond with the fraction of a year covered by the period from the date of the license to June 14, 1900. These amounts aggregate, according to the agreed statement of facts, the sum of $223.45.

"Judgment will be entered for the amount due the plaintiff according to the principles laid down in the former opinion and the present opinion."

Irate Citizens Are Standing Guard at Home

Deputy Sheriff Charles Rose was away from the police station this morning, guarding his premises against the advent of the banana cutters.

He is in earnest in the matter and intends to resort to force should his trees be cut down against his will.

Rose has two guns handy and has armed his retainers with cane-knives and pitchforks with which to resist the attack of the invaders.

Harry T. Mills is also standing guard over his premises on Eighth avenue, Kaimuki. He has notified Dr.

Currie and the Board of Health that he will resist intrusion with force, if necessary.

At all events he intends to swear to warrants for malicious injury should anything in his yard be disturbed.

Near Sixth avenue, Kaimuki, residents have made up their minds to resist destruction of their property and in some cases they have posted about their premises signs reading "Trespassers Will Be Prosecuted," in order to give the invaders due warning.

S. S. WILLESSEN HEARD FROM WITH LOW DEATH RATE ABOARD

The department of immigration received a cablegram this morning indicating that the British immigrant steamer Willesden passed Punta Arenas several days ago and is now in the Pacific, starting on the last leg of the long journey from Portugal.

The cable stated that there had been but six deaths among the children on board the Willesden, all from natural causes. Dr. Victor S. Clark states that this is a low death rate—very much less than on the Olerie, where various contagious diseases carried off a large number of children among the passengers.

Dr. Clark infers that the Willesden has had a rather rough trip down the Atlantic coast, and he expresses the sincere hope that the last end of the voyage will be better. It was very rough at the start—and so rough before the start, in fact, that loading the vessel was delayed. The time of reaching Punta Arenas also indicates that the weather was not of the best during at least a part of the trip thus far.
